Based statements and responses to questions during the public hearing, I would like to supplement the statement that I submitted at the hearing concerning the Proposed Rules Governing Presidential Nomination Primary on June 18.

The agency had an affirmative obligation under Minnesota Statutes 14.101 and 14.131 to provide additional notification about the proposed rules to classes of persons who may be affected by the rules and to seek information from such groups. The testimony in the hearing suggested that the agency did not do so in the cases of the following groups: independent voters, victims of domestic violence, and LGBT youth/young adults. The testimony in the hearing indicated that these groups would likely be affected by the rules in distinct ways from other groups and that the agency had or should have had awareness of these probable effects. Accordingly, the agency did not fulfill the procedural or substantive requirements, as indicated in 14.14, subd. 2.
